Washington, Sept. 9 .- The conditions of Mrs. Harding, wife of the President, eritically ill at the White House, was reported at 9:30 A. M. today to be 'as favorable as can be expected at this

A bulletin issued by Brigadier General C. E. Sawyer, physician in attendance, said :

"Mrs. Harding had a fairly good night. The complications of yesterday are less threatening this morning. On the whole her condition is as favorable as can be expected at this time."

Attorney General Daugherty, who renained throughout the night at the White House, said on leaving there early today that Mrs. Harding had passed a more comfortable night, than had been expected and that he believed her "pluck and will power" would carry her safely through the crisis.

Note of Optimism The note of optimism sounded by Mr.

Daugherty was echoed by other attaches at the White House, who regarded as distinctly hopeful the absence of any untoward symptom in the patient's condition during the night.

Mrs. Harding's age-she was born in Marion, O., in 1560—nad been expected o have a distinct influence on the course of her ailment. Without in any way discounting the continued gravity of the case, some of the attendants at her bedside took courage anew today.
